

WOMEN CAPPERS FOR ANNEX LAND CO. SOUGHT BY POLICE

Mrs. Francolini and Miss Halley
Criminally Implicated, Says
District-Attorney.

Acting District Attorney C. C. Nott admitted today that the New York police have been asked to look for Mrs. Mathilda Francolini and her sister, Miss Rose Halley, in connection with serious charges that have been made regarding real estate transactions in which the two women figured prominently. They were last heard of in Newark, N. J., and detectives have gone there to pick up the trail.

A Grand Jury investigation into the charges will be begun on Monday under the direction of Assistant District Attorney E. H. Cullen.

The District-Attorney's Office admitted today that many other persons than the two women are involved in the charges, and declare the sums involved will run into several hundred thousand dollars.

More than a score of persons already have been complained to the District-Attorney's Office that they bought property from the two women, paying for the property in cash, but never receiving other a receipt or a deed to the property they purchased. In most cases, the purchasers do not even know the location of the land for which they paid, so that criminal prosecution in their cases cannot follow.

Mrs. Francolini was President and her sister was Secretary of the Annex Home Company, which was organized Sept. 2, 1912, in the office of Isaac W. Goodhue, an attorney, who appears as treasurer of the corporation. This company took over the affairs of the Halley Land and Improvement Company, the Halstead Land Development Company and the Sterling Park, Incorporated. Just where these companies owned property is not known, according to the District-Attorney's office.

The alleged frauds were first brought to light in receivership proceedings before Federal Judge Holt, when the officers of the corporation declared their assets were $200,000 and their liabilities were $100,000, indicating an admitted loss of more than a quarter of a million dollars.

According to the complaints received by Mr. E. H. Cullen, these two women found hundreds of persons who had saved a little money, and told them they could sell them property or mortgages at a bargain. They always took their payments in cash and rarely ever gave a receipt. Property somewhere in Westchester County was indicated to purchasers, by means of a map, as the property thus sold, and none of the complainants has appeared who ever went out to see the property he was supposed to be buying.

In a few cases, however, receipts were given, and it is on this documentary evidence that the Grand Jury will be asked to act.

The charge is also made that certain property was sold as being free and unincumbered which, in reality, was under mortgage, the mortgage appearing in the names of certain directors of the company itself.

LAWRENCE BONNER LOST HIS HEART AS HE FOUND HIS FIRST JOB

Banker, Publisher's Grandson, to Marry Miss Anderson, Stenographer.

When Lawrence Kip Bonner, son of the late Andrew Allen Bonner and grandson of Robert Bonner, the publisher, was graduated from Princeton two years ago he decided to enter the banking business. Accordingly he called at the office of Spencer Trask & Co. at No. 42 Exchange place to make arrangements for becoming New Jersey representative for that firm.

Miss Catherine Anderson, a stenographer, was the first one to greet the young man. Upon learning that it was Mr. Bonner's first job, Miss Anderson immediately took it upon herself to give him the benefit of her five years' experience with the banking house.

In gratitude for her kindness to him, young Bonner bestowed many attentions upon the young woman, but it was not long before he realized that it was not gratitude alone that prompted him to take Miss Anderson to dinners and theatres.

When the wealthy young banker told of his love for her, Miss Anderson suddenly confessed that she had loved him from the first day he entered the office. It was agreed, however, to keep their romance a secret until young Bonner had established himself.

Last Monday Miss Anderson resigned and then the truth became known. Since the death of her mother, five years ago, Miss Anderson has made her home with Mrs. George Van Berk, on Roosevelt avenue, Larchmont.

"It is true that I am engaged to marry Mr. Bonner," said Miss Anderson to a reporter today, "but I think it's just too mean for anything that you have found it out before we announced it. We intended to announce it in a few days. The wedding will take place in a few weeks."

"I have met Mr. Bonner's family and I am quite sure they approve of the marriage. I have visited them at Sea-bright and like them all very much."

When a reporter called on Mrs. Bonner he was told that she was indisposed, but through a woman friend Mrs. Bonner said:

"The report of an engagement between my son Lawrence and Miss Anderson is quite correct. I have met Miss Anderson and think her very charming. I approve heartily of the marriage and only hope that both will be very happy."

"I have no shadowy sentiments regarding position and I advise Miss Anderson very much for having been able to support herself. The fact of her having been a business woman is anything but distasteful to me."

STRANGER THAN "TARZAN?" You remember "Tarzan of the Apes?" Stranger, more fascinating story ever printed in a newspaper.

Well, the same author (Edgar Rice Burroughs) has written a new story even stranger and more fascinating. It is "THE CAVE GIRL."

"THE CAVE GIRL" has all the elements of a wild jungle life that made "Tarzan" so enthralling. And it is, if anything, a better story.

"THE CAVE GIRL" will begin serial publication in The Evening World, Monday, Sept. 22.

Beginning Tomorrow Store Will Be Open "All Day" Saturdays.
